About the Annie Oakley Society

The Annie Oakley Society of the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum has spent the past decade working to fulfill its mission of building and sustaining world-class educational experiences for children and families to teach the rich history and cultures of the American West. Through creative vision, determination and generosity, the installation of Lichokoshkomo' on the grounds of the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum became a reality in 2020. As the Annie Oakley Society's cornerstone initiative, Liichokoshkomo' encompasses all aspects of our diverse Western heritage, core values, conflict resolution and environmental stewardship through hands-on/minds-on STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Math) integrated programming. Our important work continues. Your involvement in the Annie Oakley Society directly supports the important mission of the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum, sponsoring dynamic educational programs to stimulate interest in the enduring legacy of the American West.
